Stewardship of Privilege: Using Your Power as Jesus Used His

Jesus's Example	Your Opportunity	Your Specific Commitment
Jesus loved extravagantly: his friends, his enemies, and God.	LOVE the face and voice of God you see and hear in the presence of others.
In Jesus, God came among human beings, lived, wept, and died with us.	CARE and carry each other's burdens, even though your privilege means you could just turn the other way.
Jesus embraced human life, in its most humble and painful form.	EMBRACE uncomfortable spaces and experiences, and model vulnerability for others who share your privilege.
Jesus released control of his path so God could lead instead.	SURRENDER over-controlling behaviors and discern God's will in relationship with people who are oppressed.
Jesus risked it all by coming to be among us, loving when he was not loved, being open to correction, and refusing to curse those who hurt him.	RISK making the first move, sharing your own story, being wrong, appearing less-than-perfect, and receiving the anger of people who've been hurt by systems that protect you.
On the highways and byways of Galilee and beyond, Jesus walked with people and offered his listening ear and heart.	LISTEN with love to the stories of people who are oppressed, exploited, and have been denied privileges and resources you
Jesus trusted a woman – Mary – to carry the message that he had risen from the dead.	TRUST the perspective and wisdom of people who are least respected.
God, in uniting divinity with humanity through Jesus, actually raised humanity and deified us (Richard Hooker).	CELEBRATE the cultures, gifts, and lives of groups who have been silenced or devalued.
Jesus promised to intercede on our behalf and carry our prayers to his Father.	SPEAK hard truths that people who share your privilege can hear from you.
Jesus incurred the wrath of the domination system because he stood with the oppressed.	SUFFER the displeasure and even the anger of the systems that privilege you, by stepping outside their bounds.
Jesus lived simply and encouraged people to look into their bags, share their posses-	SACRIFICE possessions and resources for the sake of love, so that no one has too much and no one goes without.
Jesus welcomes us into the relationship he shares with his Father and the Holy Spirit.	SHARE privileged access and usher less privileged people into spaces and relationships that advance liberation for the whole.
Jesus turned everything upside down, disobeyed unjust rules, and honored the least of these, in order to bring all things back into right relationship.	DISMANTLE systems that reinforce domination, distribute privilege unequally, and diminish human life.

Note: Throughout life, you may hold power or be on the underside. Your community may also hold privileges you don't personally possess. Remember: Most have some form of privilege we can leverage to bless others and the whole.
